Newcomer on the Rialto

The recently completed Earle building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Fifty-second street is the only modern office building on the Great White Way between the Loew building, at the northeast corner of Forty-fifth street, and the new Fisk building, at the southwest corner of Fifty-seventh street. It is nine stories high and was built for Walter J. Salmon, who acquired it under a long lease. Mr. Salmon is now rapidly subleasing the various units of space. Adolph Kleinberger, architect, designed the structure.
